CASCARETS' FINE FOR THE BOWELS

No headaches, bad taste, sour stomach or coated tongue by morning

Get a 10-cent box now. Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. No odds how sick, headache, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

THREAT TO DESTROY

(Continued from Page One) are meager because the lines of communication are interrupted. Practically the only method of communication is by wireless from the warships to Vera Cruz, from which point the information thus obtained is relayed to the capital. There is a growing belief here that the campaign by the rebels against Tampico is really directed against Tuxpan. It is suggested that the rebels have sought to attract attention to their approach upon Tuxpan, so that the advance against Tampico might be overlooked and the government would send troops away from Tampico. The central point of concentration of the rebel forces is at Tampico, a town at the head of the lake, about half way between the two ports. Rebels are also moving southward from the neighborhood of Victoria, in the state of Tamaulipas toward Tampico. At Tampico there are said to be about 300 federal troops supported by the gunboat Bravo.

The war department has announced that General Joaquín Maas, Jr., who figured largely in the campaign north of Monterrey, would proceed at an early date from Vera Cruz with reinforcements for Tampico, but as yet he has not started.

Traffic is paralyzed. There is no prospect of the resumption of traffic over the main line of the National railway. The rebels who blew up a train recently at Caroná, south of Saltillo, also destroyed several bridges.

The federals under General Velasco, who were dispatched from Saltillo westward to recapture Tuxpan, have been placed in a difficult situation, as communication with the capital has been shut off.

A serious situation has again developed in Morelos and adjacent states through the reappearance of the bandit forces under Eulalio and Eufemio Zapata. These two chiefs are at Huamantla. Travelers from the south say that they have issued orders for the concentration of their followers in the neighboring hills. For some weeks there has been a slight lull in their activities. This was due to the rainy season, which made operations difficult, and to the fact that some thousands of them had been detailed to gather corn and other crops in the isolated portions of the state of Guerrero.

Destroy Everything Orders. The orders of the Zapatistas are said to be to burn every hacienda they pass and inaugurate a campaign of destruction more vigorous than ever. In the Mexican capital the organization representing the European colonies the members of which have banded together for possible defense, is working quickly and expeditiously. The American residents here to agree upon some locality where they may concentrate if necessary and which will be regarded as a neutral zone. Steps have been taken to procure a thousand head of beef cattle, 400 milch cows, 1,500 sheep and food in sufficient quantities to feed them for several weeks.

ZELAYA ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Former Nicaraguan President Is Being Held as Extradition Prisoner

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Agents of the department of justice late tonight arrested General José Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, arousing him from his bed in a West End apartment house. The warrant served charges him with murder. Zelaya was arrested in the apartment of Washington S. Valentine, a friend, said by the government agents to be a millionaire interested in Nicaraguan properties. The former president of Nicaragua was taken into custody by George C. Craft, special agent of the department of justice. Craft, who asked the charge, said: "He is to be held as an extradition prisoner of the government on the charge of murder committed in Nicaragua."

Zelaya was taken to a police station near the federal building. With him was Louis F. Corea, his counsel, who was Nicaraguan minister to the United States under the Zelaya administration. The prisoner took his detention calmly. He was being entered on the police blot as being in Spanish and addressed to his counsel. He declined to make any statement for publication. When he was searched nothing was taken from him but a stickpin.

Traced His Movements. According to the government agents, Zelaya on last Saturday night disappeared from the Broadway hotel where he was stopping but was traced to an apartment hotel in West Seventy-second street, not far from Central park. Tuesday he again disappeared and the agents took up a plan of keeping Zelaya's friends under surveillance. This worked as well, the government officials say, that after several had gone to the apartment on West End avenue where Zelaya was found tonight, the agents paid Valentine a visit.

The government officials told Valentine that they knew Zelaya was in his apartment and demanded to see him. Valentine thereupon led the officers into a dark room in which Zelaya was sleeping. The officers read the warrant for Zelaya's arrest to Valentine, who in turn translated it in his guest and a few minutes later Zelaya left the apartment for the police station in custody of the officers.

Warrant Issued Monday. The warrant for the arrest of Zelaya was issued on Monday by United States Commissioner Shields on information furnished by Roger Woods, assistant United States district attorney. This information was based upon the application of the Nicaraguan government for the extradition of Zelaya to that country on a charge of murder committed four years ago.

On Saturday when Zelaya, escaped from the surveillance of the detectives who had been following him wherever he had gone since his arrival here two and a half weeks ago, the clerk of the hotel where he last stopped noticed that he had received an envelope containing a large amount of money. This envelope was found on Zelaya tonight at the time of his arrest, but he gave it into the custody of Valentine before accompanying the officers to the police station.

The department of justice agents who arrested Zelaya professed not to know the names of the murdered persons said to have been mentioned in the application for the former dictator's extradition. It was learned from other sources, however, that he is charged specifically with the murder of two fellow countrymen named Sixto Pineda and Domingo Toribio. There is no suggestion that his extradition is in any way in connection with the summary execution of Leroy Cannon and Leonard Groce, Americans who took part in the uprising four years ago against the Zelaya regime.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Applied for the arrest of former President Zelaya, his counsel Corry M. Stadden, promptly arranged with Solicitor Folk of the state department for a hearing tomorrow at the department to demonstrate that the warrant for Zelaya's arrest should be canceled because the offenses charged him were political.

Effort will be made to show that Sixto Pineda, one of the men alleged to have been assassinated by Zelaya, actually was killed by another person. It also will be asserted that Toribio, the second of the men alleged to have been killed by Zelaya, really was shot by the police. In each case it will be asserted Zelaya knew nothing of the occurrence until after it had taken place.

If the state department declines to cancel the warrant for the provisional detention of Zelaya, efforts will be made to secure his temporary release until the arrival from Nicaragua of the documents in the case required by treaty.

VILLA PLANNING TO ATTACK CHIHUAHUA

Will Send His Juarez Forces Against Capital When They Are Ready

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 26.—An attack on the city of Chihuahua is planned to take place within the next few days by Gen. Francisco Villa and his rebel army, who returned today from Tierra Blanca, where they defeated the federal forces from Chihuahua. Villa stated tonight that as soon as his men had had a rest after their work in the Tierra Blanca fight, he would send forth the greater part of the rebel forces now in Juarez against the state capital.

Soon after his arrival in Juarez today, he began preparing for the march against Chihuahua by laying in a supply of provisions. During the four days that Villa's troops were in the field south of Juarez, the provision supply was almost exhausted. In Juarez, tonight, rebel officers said that the federals are at Villa Ahumada, 35 miles south of Juarez. They fear to return to Chihuahua because of the presence of Gen. Manuel Chao with 2,000 rebel troops on the railroad line north of Chihuahua.

No Formal Celebration. There was no formal celebration in Juarez tonight. Villa, the victory achieved by Villa's men in the battle. Villa was at his office in the customs house late tonight and conducting his regular business affairs. The soldiers remained in the barracks, but many of the officers were about the streets of the town. The rebels seem to take their victory over the federal forces as merely a matter of business.

General Villa stated tonight that he did not intend to execute the federal prisoners which he spared on the battlefield and brought to Juarez. The prisoners, who number about 200 men, have been placed in jail with those taken during the Juarez battle, and will be held there until the close of hostilities in Mexico, when they will be pardoned. One hundred of the prisoners were kept on the battlefield under guard during the day to bury the dead of both federal and rebel killed in the battle.

They were brought to Juarez tonight on a captured train.

Capture American. Eugene Alton, an American, from Las Cruces, N. M., was brought to Juarez today from the battlefield, a prisoner of the Villa army. He had been with the federal forces during the fight and was captured during the battle. He claimed that he had not been fighting with the federalists, but was a passenger on their train. Efforts are being made here to obtain his release.

General Villa claims that two relatives of Gen. Luis Terrazas, the wealthy Chihuahua land owner, were killed in the battle. One of them is Capt. Luis Terrazas, a grandson, and the other is Capt. Francisco Molinar, a nephew. Both were with the federal forces.

Arizans who were on the battlefield while the fighting was in progress claim that both federal and rebel killed 100 enemy's wounded, besides executing many of the prisoners captured in the battle. An American chauffeur said that he saw several wounded killed, the soldiers of both armies forcing the injured men to their feet and making them run, then shooting them in the back.

Using Scrip Money. Scrip money was placed in circulation in Juarez today and has caused trouble between the merchants of the city, many of whom are foreigners

AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGICAL SCHOOL IS GIVEN $10,000

Money Will Be Used to Paint Series of Mural Pictures in New Mexico Museum

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 26.—A gift of $10,000 by Frank Springer of East Las Vegas to the School of American Archaeology at Santa Fe, was announced this afternoon through Edgar L. Hawett, director of the school, to the New Mexico Educational association just before it adjourned. The gift is for the unique purpose of painting a series of mural pictures illustrating the life of St. Francis of Assisi, the patron saint of New Mexico, and will supplement a similar series given by Mr. Springer illustrating the life of the prehistoric people of the southwest and decorating the walls of the museum of New Mexico. These latter were executed by Carl Lohave of Paris. The commission for the new series has been awarded to Donald Beauregard, who has just returned from Paris.

The association, after an evening session, elected the Rev. C. C. Hill of Roswell, president; Mrs. Josie Lockard of Baton, vice president; J. H. Warner of Santa Fe, secretary; C. L. Burt of Montaleno, treasurer; R. R. Larkin, East Las Vegas, railroad secretary; John Milne, local secretary, and J. B. Taylor of Deming, member of executive committee.

Of New Mexico's 1,700 teachers, 1,300 are enrolled at the convention. Albuquerque won the convention for next year over East Las Vegas.

and General Villa. There was $20,000 paid out to the troops by the rebel officials, and when they tried to make purchases with the money the merchants refused to accept the scrip. Villa has threatened to jail merchants who will not accept the money. The scrip was found in a chest in one of the trains captured from the federalists.

In the federal train which were captured by the rebel officers of the federal army had brought all of their provisions, including full dress uniforms and furniture. These were divided up among the rebels, and tonight many of the soldiers of Villa's army are attired in federal officers' uniforms.

CONDITIONS IN OIL REGIONS

(Continued from Page One) which would be necessary in order to cross the border. It also is known that facilities for the care of the wounded in Juarez are entirely inadequate. The Mexican Red and White cross organizations are disorganized, and officials here say there is no authoritative agency in Mexico through which the American society could work.

May Demand Recognition. It was suggested tonight that one important result of the rebel victory at Juarez might be to bring into greater prominence the question of recognition by the United States government of General Carranza's Constitutional party as the de facto government of northern Mexico. Now that General Carranza can claim that his party is in practical physical possession of all of the northern states of Mexico, it is expected that he will comply with the further requirements of international law by setting up a permanent capital at Hermosillo or Magdalena and completing the organization of his provisional government.

This question is said to have been discussed by Dr. William Bayard Rustin in his recent conference with General Carranza and Victor Bolander. It was then rather hypothetical as the federalists were in great force in the state of Chihuahua. Dr. Rustin is expected in Washington within a few days.

There was no confirmation here today of a report from Berlin that the American ambassador, James W. Gerard, in discussing the Mexican situation with the German minister of foreign affairs, Gottlieb von Jagow, had submitted a new cable from Washington reaffirming the attitude of the United States in regard to the elimination of General Huerta and the non-recognition of the new Mexican congress. Acting Secretary John Bassett Moore said he had no knowledge of any new note on the subject.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 26.—Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, sent notification today to all British residents to register at the legation in pursuance of the plan of defense against a possible emergency. British residents who are not represented here, diplomatically, were likewise invited to enroll. A similar step was taken by the Cuban minister.

The chamber of deputies held a five minute session today—the time necessary to read and approve the minutes. Adjournment was taken because there was no other business. The question of passing upon the recent election of the president and vice president of the republic. It was said, will not be taken up for several days.

Rebels Capture Federal Train. EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 26.—A train which was abandoned by the federal forces a few miles south of Samalayuca in their retreat to the south after the battle of Tierra Blanca, was captured by General Francisco Villa's rebel troops late this afternoon, according to an official message received tonight at the Juarez military headquarters.

On the train were four Schneider Canon field pieces belonging to the federal forces. The 20 cars of the train were loaded with the effects of the federal regiments. The train was brought into Juarez this evening.

Escaped Prisoners. EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 26.—On the Tierra Blanca battlefield today were found about 20 bodies of rebel soldiers who had been taken prisoners of war by the federal forces which fought Villa for two days, and who had been executed by the federal soldiers. The bodies of the rebels lay within the federal lines where they had been taken after their capture. The hands of the dead rebel soldiers had been tied in front of them before they were put to death by the federalists. Private as well

HUERTA IS DISPATCHING TROOPS TO VERA CRUZ

Will Recruit Garrison, Depleted by Transfer of Force to Tampico.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 26.—Since the departure of John Lind on board the United States battleship Rhode Island, the consulate has received no reports from him on the situation at Tampico, nor has any word come from Rear Admiral Fletcher. Mr. Lind sent a message today saying merely that he could return at any time. It is believed he will arrive here tomorrow on a U. S. liner steamer.

Wireless messages from the warships at Tampico and Tuxpan indicate that all is quiet at those ports. Passengers who arrived today by coastwise steamer report that the rebels were three miles from Tampico last night.

It is rumored that 4,000 troops are coming here from Mexico City and will proceed to Tampico and Tuxpan. This was officially denied at military headquarters tonight where it was stated that conditions in that region do not necessitate any reinforcements.

According to another source, which is considered authoritative, a troop train of 25 cars with about 800 men will arrive early tomorrow morning, but no arrangements have been made for transportation of additional troops from Vera Cruz.

as officers of Villa's army were executed by the federalists.

Will Protect Property. HERMOSILLO, Sonora, Mexico, Nov. 26.—General Rivera, of Sonora, notified American Consul Hotzelter here today that he had dispatched a special messenger to Rosario to order full protection for the Tajo Mining company property there, which is owned by Americans. It has been reported at Washington that the insurgent officials had demanded $300,000 pesos from the American officers of the company.

Tenth Regiment Moving. BURLINGTON, Vt., Nov. 26.—Movement of the Tenth regiment of cavalry toward the Mexican border began today with the departure of L troop for Fort Apache, Ariz. Information has been received from Washington that the remainder of the regiment will depart from Fort Ethan Allen for border posts by December 5.

May Use Texas Guard. DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 26.—Blanket transportation for local companies of the Texas national guard has been deposited in Dallas banks by the United States war department. It was learned today. The purpose of arranging for transportation was not made known. It was said to be sufficient to provide for quick movement of the guardsmen in an emergency.

Refugees on 'Atlantic'. GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 26.—With 91 refugees from Mexico on board, the steamship Atlantic was reported 100 miles off the Galveston bar this afternoon. She will dock tomorrow morning. The refugees come from Tampico and Vera Cruz. Americans in the party number 34.

NEW RECORD DISTANCE FOR WIRELESS IS ESTABLISHED

SARNA, Ont., Nov. 26.—The wireless station on the shores of Lake Huron above Point Edward picked up signals last night from the wireless station at Darwin near Palmerston, South Australia, which was calling the wireless station at Sydney. The signals received here were quite clear. This is said to be a record distance in wireless telegraphy.

CALL FIRST WITNESS IN WIRELESS TELEPHONE CASE

More Than 100 People From All Parts of Country Will Testify.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Granville T. Ivory, the first of more than 100 witnesses from all parts of the country called by the government to testify in the trial of James Dunlop Smith, Samuel M. Darby, L. O. De Forest and Elmer E. Burlingame, charged with conspiracy to defraud investors in wireless telephone stock, was examined today in the federal court. The examination of Mr. Ivory, who was a director in one of the companies organized by the defendants, will be resumed Friday.

In his opening statement to the jury for the government, Robert Stephenson, assistant United States district attorney, declared that when it was announced that battleships of the navy were equipped with the radio wireless telephones the stock of the Radio Telephone company, of which Smith was president, jumped from $10 to $20 a share.

Later when the navy department, after giving the apparatus a trial discarded it, the radio telephone company continued to represent that it was doing a successful business and went on paying dividends of 12 per cent out of money derived from the sale of $750,000 worth of treasury stock. As late as 1911 when the government had occurred, Mr. Stephenson further declared, several subsidiary companies were organized with a united capital of $5,000,000. It was with money received from the sale of stock of these companies, he said, that dividends continued to be paid.

News of the arrest of E. L. Doyle by military authorities in Trinidad created a furor of excitement in state departments and among union leaders here. Governor Ammons, from the first moment of his knowledge of the arrest, insisted that the union leader be released, stating that he could be found at any time he was wanted; that he was a person of such prominence of labor circles that he could not become a fugitive, and that he feared his arrest would disrupt proceedings in the conference which then was in session.

Chase Argues in Vain. Adjutant General Chase vigorously protested against the release of the union official, declaring that it was highly important that he be held incommunicado until the military authorities should have finished their investigation of the slaying of George Velez, the mine guard and detective. Early last night it was believed that the military commander had convinced the governor, but later Doyle's release was ordered forthwith by the governor. It is known that John Lawson and other high union officials had been the governor almost since the moment of Doyle's arrest, seeking his release at the hands of the executive.

The effect of the arrest upon those close to the governor to be the motive of his sudden determination to have Doyle released.

Conditions elsewhere in the strike zone were reported quiet to the governor at midnight last night. Doyle was arrested this morning and the military authorities sought to hold him until further investigation into allegations contained in the Zancanelli confession had been made.

Upon the receipt of the order from Governor Ammons to release the mine union official, General Chase issued the following: "To the city jailer of the city of Trinidad:

"Under the authority conveyed in a telegram, dated Denver, Colo., November 24, 1913, signed by Governor E. M. Ammons, directed to Adjutant General John Chase, you are hereby directed to release the prisoner, E. L. Doyle."

(Signed) JOHN CHASE, Brigadier general, adjutant general's department commanding. No action has been taken by the civil authorities in the case.

Kanahan in Effigy. TRINIDAD, Nov. 26.—The militia men at Camp Trinidad at 3:30 this evening burned in effigy State Auditor Roddy Kenahan. Six hundred soldiers—privates, corporals, sergeants, lieutenants, captains and majors—took part in the exhibition of 31-footing against Auditor Kenahan, who is holding back their pay by his refusal to approve certificates of indebtedness for their services.

The soldiers waited until Adjutant General Chase left the camp for his hotel headquarters, then marched down the company street with the mimic auditor, hanged the effigy to a pole, danced about it with high glee while the camp band played "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and finally cut it down and burned it to ashes while the callant 600 sang "God-bye Roddy, we hate to see you go."

General Chase returned to the camp just as the wind was tossing the last of the effigy's ashes into the gully at the back of the camp. The commander did not act harshly with his subordinates for their actions.

Doyle Released. E. L. Doyle, secretary-treasurer of District 15, United Mine Workers of America, was released from the city jail at 10 o'clock tonight, following the receipt of an order from Governor Ammons, demanding that he be set free.

PIONEERS PUSH BACK

(Continued from Page One) the restless feet of the dancers, another corner refreshments were served and there the crowd took such other with sparkling apple cider, pumpkin pie, doughnuts, sandwich and other delicacies were also served. The costumes? Who could describe them adequately? The ladies of cost were the bright stars of the occasion. Indian girls, colonial dames, splash lassies, milkmaids and grand dames were all represented. Print gowns had been packed away in the closet chest in the attic for years; hoop skirts that had hung on nails for decades and garments cut with intricate mutton sleeves, all were worn with charming grace.

Then there were men with stove hats; funny wigs, high top boots a cowboy regalia. Some of the old untorn fire companies were present. One member of the W. S. Jack—a company of 1880 was in the white trimmed blue flannel blouse of the days with the sailor-like trousers. Prince Alberts, cutaways, full dress and tuxedos were all mingled in the democratic gathering.

Grand March Real Climax. The grand march was the opening event of the evening and at the very time the climax. Big chief William Reilly led the hundreds of smiling bowing men and women through the mystic mazes of the meandering march. The head couple were Mrs. Maude McFerran Price, president of the Paso County Pioneer association, and Dr. Boswell P. Anderson, chairman of the log cabin committee. The march ended in a waltz and immediately following came the first quadrille of the evening. The judges, Mr. Frank Condon, Henry O. Furman, J. H. Stevens and C. M. Hobbs, then announced that the prize for the best pioneer dancer had been awarded to Mrs. Orpha Barr. The prize for the most typical pioneer costume was won by Miss Ella Dixon. The judges for the latter contest were Mrs. Edna Howbert, Mrs. J. Hoyt Stevens, E. W. Giddings and Mrs. Arthur Perkins.

All dances during the ball, however, were not quadrilles and Virginia reel—the modern dance had its fitting, too. The exponents of the waltz and two-step—yes, and even the one-step—were given opportunity to participate in their favorite pastime. In the later hours or rather early, the younger generation held full sway.

The quadrille probably furnished the most enjoyment of any of the dances. The older people were adept in the intricate steps of this old-time dance. Many were heavy in the steps at first, but they just let their feet wander as they would and those same feet instinctively led their owners, in the paths they were wont to go in the past. With laughter and shouts and doubled-up mirth the pioneers marched, skipped and galloped through the sets. And high above the din of joy the voices of the callers pounded loud and insistent.

Ball Proves an Achievement. It would be a weak use of words to say that the ball was a success—it was an achievement. To prime purpose of the function was to raise funds for the building of a pioneer log cabin in Monument Valley park. The object is now assured. Temple theater would hardly hold the crowd last night and many tickets were sold, the purveyors of which did not attend the ball.

Much credit is due to the managers of the ball that the gigantic affair went off so smoothly. The members of the ball committee were Mrs. Maude McFerran Price, Mrs. Francis W. Goddard, W. Arthur Perkins and Frank Perkins. The coffee table was presided over by Mrs. E. W. Giddings and Mrs. E. J. Eaton; the elder by Mrs. A. J. Lawton and Mrs. T. J. Fisher.

Assisting in the serving were: Miss Dorothy Price, Miss Alice Perkins, Miss Florence Stevens, Miss Martha McAllister, Miss Dollie Eaton, Miss Lucile Keys, the Misses Bartlett, Miss Evelyn Lennox, Miss Lucile Fisher, Miss Agnes Lennox, Miss Lydia Fring, Miss Margaret Forgie, Miss Bertha Armit, Miss Helen Harmon, Miss Janet Pearson, Miss Louise Burgess and Miss Mary L. Riley.

The decorations were in charge of Mrs. W. P. Dixon and the refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Anna Fankner.

THE ROSEARY

THE ROSEARY

Seldom does an author portray such an important character as that of a Catholic priest and have it meet with approval from the clergy. But this is just what has happened to Edgard R. Rose, author of "The Roseary" which will be seen at the Opera House today matinee and night.

In "The Roseary" Mr. Rose has drawn a character of the Rev. Brian Kelly, a Catholic priest who interferes in domestic troubles between man and wife, and eventually shows the unimted amount of good that can be done by a priest out of conventional stage character, but a real man a big man of faith, strength and conviction. The character has been indorsed by the clergy all over the country and it is said to be the strongest character of the kind ever presented on the American stage. The character will be portrayed by C. A. Sterling, an exceptional artist who goes through his work convincing the audience that he has mastered the author's conception of the role.

"THE LURE"

Genuine sincerity of purpose is said to characterize that drama dealing with white slavery. The "Lure" which has been the big sensation of the present New York season and which is now to be seen by playgoers of this city simultaneously with its crowded run at Maxine Elliott's theatre in the eastern metropolis. George Scarborough, who wrote it was for years a special secret service agent for the government and was inspired by his own a true experience to write this play depicting the methods of operation of modern society who aim at the bones of the land. He was a man who played with the white slave who would ponder to model or any, but the theme inspired him and it was a true spirit and with the zeal of a modern crusader against "naughty" evil that he was led to it.

When the first draft of the play was finished Mr. Finch, United States White Slave Commissioner, read it carefully and was so impressed with its utter truthfulness that he gave Mr. Scarborough an open letter expressing and commending the play to the American public. This letter was printed and circulated at the first performance of "The Lure" in New York city and there was not a single critic who took exception to any of the statements made by Mr. Finch in his commendation of the piece. Indeed the review was so emphatic in praising the essential truthfulness of Mr. Scarborough's drama Mr. Finch praised the author for his skill in presenting all the salient features without being so far as to make the piece a sermon.

It is denied today that Foye had forged any certificates other than those of the General Electric company. It had been reported when he was arrested that the United Pacific railroad stocks were also his property.

The Farmers Loan and Trust company will file no objection, its officers said in a statement today, the loans being persons who loaned money on the forged certificates.

Statement Tells Facts.

A statement issued by C. T. Chahiler and company, brokers, testified what were termed to be the facts in Foye's arrest. Through Charles T. Brown and company of Philadelphia it stated Foye negotiated loans for $200,000 on 2,000 shares of General Electric stock of which 1,400 shares were placed with four Philadelphia institutions and 600 shares with the Chandler company here. The loss of the Chandler company the statement said was fully covered by insurance.

New York Ladies' Tailoring

Phone 762 324 N. Tejon St.

HARRY MILLS, PROP.

Late of Twenty-ninth and Fifth Ave., New York

Owing to the fact that I am compelled to remain in this city, I will make a special effort to introduce myself to the ladies of Colorado Springs and I am willing to use the benefits of this paper to obtain the result.

I was fortunate enough to obtain the entire stock of a high class ladies' tailoring establishment, comprising woolsens of the latest texture and designs which could not be bought for less than $3.00 to $5.00 per yard, at a ridiculously low figure. Harry Mills of the New York Ladies' Tailoring, will, as a compliment, give his goods away for absolutely NOTHING. You can get your selection of all the materials I am showing in my windows to your measure for the price of the making ONLY, which is $25.00

Remember, this is an honest price. No tailor is able to do justice for less in the making of a thoroughly high class tailor gown. There are only 50 woolsens to choose from. Come in tomorrow and make your selection.

LADIES

are cordially invited to visit our work room and see the construction of their gowns. I am doing this only to convince my customers that all work is done on the premises and not in Chicago, as some of my competitors claim.

Remember, the goods, linings and trimmings will be given for your suit as a compliment from Harry Mills.

These suits are positively guaranteed. They can not be duplicated for less than $50.00.

PRISONERS IN COLORADO

PENITENTIARY TO FEAST

Turkey, Duck, Chicken and Roast

Beef and "Trimmin's" Menu

at Various Camps.

CANON CITY, Nov. 26.—Five hundred fifty prisoners in the state penitentiary here will feast upon 450 pounds of roast beef, 400 pounds of mashed potatoes, 2,000 cinnamon rolls, 200 pies, 50 gallons of coffee, 30 gallons of gravy and the trimmings as Warden Tynan expressed it when he told of the Thanksgiving dinner for the prisoners tomorrow.

The prisoners on road gangs at Greeley and Glenwood Springs will have their feast built around turkey, as will those on the ranch at Avondale, at the Pueblo and Fort Collins camps. Chicken will be the feast meat and roast duck will be served the prisoners at Trinidad camp.

In the penitentiary the prisoners will have a concert and a musical entertainment show will entertain the convicts in the prison chapel in the afternoon. There will be no Thanksgiving pardons. There are a total of 890 state prisoners enrolled including those in road gangs.

A PAINFUL BLUNDER

From the Labor Clarion

There was a determined look in her eyes as she marched into the optician's shop.

"I want a pair of glasses immediately," she said. "Good, strong ones."

"Good, strong ones?"

"Yes, I was out in the country yesterday and I made a very painful blunder."

"Indeed? Mistook a stranger for a friend?"

"No, a bumblebee for a blackberry."

Your meeting will be done best by men that know how to handle household goods. We have them.

FAMOUS RHODE ISLAND

From Harper's Magazine

It was a geography lesson and the teacher had been asking what some of the different states were noted for. Looking at one of the little girls who asked:

"Tell me, Florence, what Rhode Island is celebrated for."

"It's a monument to a girl who after then an inspiration apparently came to her."

"Rhode Island, repeated the little girl, is celebrated for being the only one of the United States that is the smallest."

A WOMAN'S PROBLEM

In the looking-glass a woman often sees wrinkles, hollow circles under eyes, "crow's feet," all because she did not turn to the right remedy when worn down with these troubles which are distinctly feminine. Backache, dyspepsia, "stomach" and nervousness and drains upon vitality bring untold suffering to womanhood and the face shows it. ### Deaths and Funerals

Word has been received of the death in Russell, Ia., of the Rev. Amos Hall Stote, father of W. H. R. Stote of this city. Mr. Stote was 78 years of age and had been a minister for more than 30 years. He was a graduate of Charles H. Spurgeon's Theological school in London. Mr. Stote visited Colorado Springs a number of times and preached in the local Baptist church.

FOR CHILDREN THERE IS NOTH-ING BETTER
A cough medicine for children must help their coughs and colds without bad effects on their little stomachs and bowels. Foley's Honey and Tar exactly fills this need. No opiates, no sour stomach, no constipation follows its use. Stuffy, cold, hoarse breathing, coughs and croup are all quickly helped, and sweet, refreshing slumber instead of feverish tossing at night. It is easy, therefore, to understand why an increasing number of bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is sold yearly. Robinson Drug Co. Adv.

INTERNATIONAL POSITION OF U. S. NEVER STRONGER

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Never has the international position of the United States been stronger than at the present time.

This is the view of economic conditions in this country, expressed today by Sir George Paish, editor of the London Statist, chief speaker at a meeting of the Commercial club.

"The position here," he said, "is unusually sound. For the distant outlook I am equally hopeful. I believe the present trend of sentiment and of legislation makes for a great increase in agricultural production in the United States and this promises to create a greatly increased number of home consumers for American manufactured goods."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Some time since I had occasion to employ Charles P.
Fant to search for and discover property lawfully subject to taxation in El Paso County which had been omitted. In his work he has pursued a course of conduct outside his contract which I cannot condone for defend, and I have therefore terminated such agreement and repudiate him and said contract.

My office has and will have

Union Pacific

Standard Road of the West

Union Pacific trains operate over a roadbed perfectly ballasted with Sherman gravel (disintegrated granite) which eliminates practically all road dust. The rails are of 80-pound steel, solid and amply able to support trains running at high speed.

The entire line is protected by a system of automatic electric block safety signals allowing trains to move with least possible delay and with the greatest degree of safety.

The equipment of the Union Pacific limited trains is of all-steel construction, luxuriously furnished and lighted and ventilated by electricity. The motive power as well as the entire equipment is of the latest models and embodies all those improvements that lend to speed and safety.

Trainmen are selected from among the best and are assisted to become more proficient by an educational bureau maintained by the company for the betterment of the service.

The Union Pacific is ever alert to new methods of improving its service and is quick to adopt features that tend to comfort and safety of its passengers.

Its double track, gravel ballasted roadbed, automatic electric block safety signals, steel equip-

Plan Kansas City-Pueblo Run for School Racers

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 26.—A relay race to be run by high school boys from Kansas City to Pueblo, Colo., along the Santa Fe trail, is being backed by George R. Momyer, superintendent of the city schools of Lamar, Colo. He has planned for a message to be carried from the mayor of Kansas City to the mayor of Pueblo and for boys from high schools all along the intervening part of the trail to take part.

Momyer has conferred with many high school heads along the Colorado end of the route and all are interested in the run. He is now arranging to interest the schools at the east end of the trail. The time proposed for the race is next spring, after the track season. Momyer's letter has not been received at the office of L. L. Cammack, superintendent of schools here.

within the 30-yard line on drops and placements. The Tigers have not shown any great strength from a kicking standpoint this year. While the tactics of the coaches are not known, it is probable that the overhead game will prove the most valuable offensive plan for the lighter visitors. The Tigers have the heavy line plungers, Esmoll, Claybaugh and Taylor, whose work against lighter teams in the past has been exceptionally good. The Tigers have the forward pass down in good shape and for the last few nights have devoted much time to breaking up the overhead style of game.

Faith in Tiger Line.

The visitors, it is predicted, will find difficulty in piercing the Tiger line. It hasn't been done successfully this year and the seven men making up the primary defense have played strong football.

According to news from Kansas, the Emporia ends are the fastest in the state. Upon the ends falls much of the work in breaking up shifts, forward passes and end runs and the tactics of the two teams will be watched closely. Bowers and Kramer, the Tiger flank men, are big and husky and have been smashing into plays this week as of yore. Both are good running down under punts.

The Tiger tackles, Gibson and Ragle, both first season men, have been putting up a brand of football that has surprised the conference. Both are strong and anxious, and their opponents will find that their offensive game is just as dashing as their defensive.

Davis and Gerlach will handle the guard positions. Mimmack will be at center and this combination against Denver university proved a winner two weeks ago.

Ross to Lead Attack.

"Shorty" Ross, the diminutive Tiger, will run the team as quarterback. He has shown good judgment in the selection of his plays and has handled punts without fumbling. Taylor will aid him in running back kicks. Ross is a good dodger and hard to tackle and put down.

The Tiger secondary defense is efficient. Claybaugh has played a magnificent game this year and in backing up the line and Esmoll and Taylor are men who tackle hard and low, and that means a halt in the play.

The officials of today's game will be Dr. F. W. Arker, referee, all-American player in 1907, when he played with St. Louis university, and Clem Crowley, all-Rocky Mountain player in 1910, umpire. The quarters will be of 15 minutes duration.

The Tigers have met teams outside the conference during the last few years and the Colorado brand of football has proved the best. Last year, the husky Nebraska Wesleyan team fell a prey to the locals and in 1911 the Kansas Aggies were defeated. Methods of playing the great autumn game in both states will be compared by the fans at today's game.

The two coaches, Rothsch of the Tigers and Granger of the Emporia team, had nothing to say last night. Neither knows what the other team has up its sleeve and they are venturing no opinions.

Ketchel and Yoakum Go 15 Hard Rounds to Draw

DENVER, Nov. 26.—In the windup of an all-star event here tonight, Steve Ketchel of Chicago and Stanley Yoakum of East Las Vegas fought 15 slugging rounds to a draw.

Dick Buttry of Denver knocked out Phil Kearney, also of Denver, in the ninth round of the semiwindup and Joe Flynn of Denver was given the decision over Spider Roach of San Francisco at the end of a 10-round bout, which furnished the curtain raiser.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 26.—Without exerting himself at any time, Packer McFarland of Chicago toyed with Harry Brewer, the Kansas City welterweight, in their eight-round bout here tonight. McFarland landed almost at will. McFarland apparently made no effort to knock Brewer out. Brewer was severely punished but showed great willingness to mix.

RACING CARD TODAY AT ROSWELL SPEED TRACK

There will be a thirteenth racing program this afternoon at the Roswell race track, north of the city and a number of good ponies will be on exhibition. The track has been put in good condition and with some classy trotters pulling, the afternoon should prove an enjoyable one for those who enjoy snappy racing.

Also Wilson, the great quarterback of the Yale varsity team, who was set aside as "no good" last season, and who met with a similar fate this fall until half the season had slipped by. Then when Yale had suffered the most disastrous beginning in the football history of the New Haven institution, Wilson was given a "thorough trial on the ground" that things couldn't be any worse. To amazement of the coaches and the student body, Wilson jumped into the breach and pulled the team together in a marvelous fashion. He instilled the blue with fighting spirit that has made Yale famous on the gridiron and in three games he has won the admiration and praise of every football expert in the east.

ALONG THE SPORTSMAN'S BEAT

Things to be thankful for today: The tango, Esperanto, "I Should Worry," prunes, Rango — —, bromo selzer, eugenics, woman policeman, All American and All Done teams, quarterbacks and drawbacks, that Pikes Peak isn't sinking, and the Busy Corner.

Things to be unthankful for any day: Alarm clocks, janitors, the last of the month, mackinaws, spearmint, perfume, pompadours, sand in oyster soup, shot in early June peas.

Glen Bowers captain of the Tigers for the last two years, will today end his football career. Bowers played two years with the Terrors and four on the college team, a record probably never equaled here. He has been an active force in college athletics and his influence has played no small part in putting the college athletics in the prominent position they hold today at the institution in spite of the "Tiger" editorial.

Captain Ketcham of Yale, in his statement that he would not allow his men numbered, barks out that football players do not play the game for the newspapers or the public. It might be well to ask how long the game would last if the newspapers didn't mention it or if no crowds watched the game.

Within the next few days All American teams will be chosen from those on the eastern coast as usual. Sire Walter Camp, who hasn't been west of the Hudson this year will probably have his old choice of players from the teams that play within sight of the Atlantic ocean.

"Let us give thanks," said the two diners as they passed up the waiter who stood at the table with extended palm.

VANDERBILT CUP DEFENDER WILL BE EXTREMELY LIGHT

BRISTOL, R. I., Nov. 26.—A glimpse of the frame materials assembled today for the Vanderbilt syndicate's American cup candidate showed them to be much lighter than those used in any defender that has yet been turned out at the Bristol yards. It was stated that by placing the supports closer together lighter steel could be used. The object of this lighter construction, it was stated, was to obtain an easily driven hull that would, at the same time, be sufficiently steady under a heavy spread of canvas.

Springs Golfers to Have Busy Day on the Courses

The golfers will have their sport today and special Thanksgiving day tournaments have been arranged at both the Colorado Springs and the Cheyenne Mountain club. A tournament at the Springs club will attract a large number of morning players, while others will tramp over the course this afternoon.

ARMY READY FOR BATTLE WITH MIDDIES SATURDAY

West Pointers Go Through Snappy Signal Practice; Navy Also Finishes Work.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Except for the final signal drill which will come tomorrow, the Army is ready for its big battle on the gridiron with the Navy on Saturday.

The team went through a snappy signal practice this afternoon in sunset. All the regulars were in the lineup except Jones, right guard. Both Herrick and O'Hara were used in Jones' position. Goodman was tried for a while at center, but his poor passing made a hurry call for McEwan, necessary. Benedict, Hoge, Hodgson, Hobbs and Joubert were used behind the line.

Just who Coach Daley will start against the Middies behind the Army line is unknown. Present indications point to Hoge, Benedict and Hodgson as the most likely combination with Hobbs, Joubert, Molten, Lamphir and Ford in reserve. Leo Leary, a Harvard coach, arrived today and worked with the Army ends.

The Army squad will leave here for New York at 8:30 Friday morning. They will practice on the Polo grounds in the afternoon.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 26.—While the academy band furnished accompaniment to the songs that will boom across the field toward the Army posts on Saturday, the Navy football team and scrubs went through the last practice on the home grounds this afternoon. The work was light and there was no scrimmaging. Formations which will be used for the first time against West Point were gone through repeatedly.

PENN-CORNELL GAME FEATURE OF DAY ON GRIDIRONS IN EAST

Quakers Are Doped to Defeat Ithacans in Fast, Close Contest

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The old custom of playing the final game of the football season on Thanksgiving day is still adhered to by a few of the eastern colleges and as a result several intercollegiate contests are scheduled for tomorrow. The feature game is the meeting of Pennsylvania and Cornell.

Cornell and Pennsylvania have been defeated or held to the games several times this year, yet the success of their seasons will hinge, to a certain degree, upon the outcome of the final contest of the schedule. To date the annual series have been overwhelmingly in favor of Pennsylvania for in the 20 games played since 1893 Cornell has won only one game and tied one. In 1901 the Red and White ran up a 23 to 6 victory, and in 1906 the teams played a scoreless tie.

As a result of past and present season showings the Quakers are favored to continue the annual triumph over Cornell, although it is conceded that the game will be close and hard fought.

Next in importance to the Pennsylvania-Cornell game is the contest between the Carlisle Indians and Brown at Providence. Brown, with a team considerably below the standard set by preceding eleven at the Providence university, is not likely to do more than hold the redmen in reasonable check. Other games scheduled in the east include Pennsylvania State-Pittsburg at Pittsburg, Franklin and Marshall-Gettysburg at Lancaster, Pa.; Lafayette-Dickinson at Easton; Pa.; Rushnell-Washington and Jefferson at Washington, D. C.; and Virginia-North Carolina at Richmond, Va.

In the West Today.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving day football includes few games of importance this year. There are three games of interest in the central states, two of them for their intercollegiate nature.

At Austin, Notre Dame's fast and powerful eleven will play the University of Texas team.

Syracuse, Des Moines, its beating by Michigan, has a chance to redeem itself and eastern football generally in the game at St. Louis.

Case and Western Reserve meet in annual battle at Cleveland.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 26.—The Notre Dame-Texas game is the chief contest of those which will close the football season in the south, other games of more than social interest are also scheduled.

At Oklahoma City the eleven of the University of Colorado and University of Oklahoma will meet. In addition to the Virginia-North Carolina contest at Richmond, other important games in the south today will include: Sewanee vs. Vanderbilt at Nashville.

Transylvania vs. Kentucky State at Lexington.

Kansas Aggies vs. Louisiana at Houston.

Tulane vs. Arkansas at New Orleans.

DONE IN THE OPEN

THE poet who wrote that "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," never had seen a Republican politician in the agonizing moment when his supplications for fusion with the Progressives were rejected. If he had, a new simile would be added to our literature. For understand, dear reader, there is no emotion under the heavens above comparable to the mingled wrath and despair of the G. O. P. leader who sees his last lingering hope of pie and patronage vanish with the stern refusal of the Progressives to "come back into the fold and let bygones be bygones."

To illustrate the point: For weeks and months our local contemporary has raged and fumed against the Progressives not because it finds anything fundamentally wrong in their principles but because they won't unite with its own party for a campaign of power and pelf. Underlying all of its arguments is the one basic contention— "united we can win the next election, otherwise the Republican party is lost."

But the Progressives have persistently refused, and they are still refusing. They welcome to their ranks all voters, Republicans and Democrats alike, who accept the principles of right and justice on which the new party is founded. But they will not compromise, either on men or measures; they will not sacrifice their political integrity for the mess of pottage offered by the Republican amalgamators.

Last Monday several of the state leaders met in Denver to talk over plans for next year's campaign. A complete ticket is to be placed in the field, state, congressional and county, and in an effort to bring out the strongest candidates possible those present urged the candidacy of E. P. Cogan for Governor and Ben. B. Griffith for Senator. No other office was even mentioned.

The Associated Press, in reporting the meeting, incorrectly stated that the executive committee of the party had "decided" upon these men as candidates for the respective positions. Of course there was, and could have been, no such "decision." In the first place, the committee has no such authority, for all candidates on the Progressive ticket, as on all other tickets, must go in the primaries and take their chances with the voters. In the second place, the meeting referred to was not a meeting of the executive committee but of a few individuals who are active in the Progressive movement.

Now it happens that these facts were explained to the editor of the Telegraph yesterday morning by Secretary Temple, of the Progressive state committee, by telephone from Denver. The opportunity for perversion of the truth was too attractive, however, so a garbled editorial was concocted and printed under the heading "Making the State," in which the charge is made that the Progressives have "baldly, boldly and brazenly confessed their allegiance to bossism."

It is awful, simply awful, how sour the grapes are when they hang just beyond our reach. Now if those same perfidious "bosses" had got together in "secret conclave" and framed up a deal with the patriotic and disinterested Republican leaders whereby the two parties would unite in support of some good old-line Republican for Governor, a Progressive renegade for Senator, a Guggenheim lieutenant for one Congressman and a henchman of the C. F. & I. for another congressional job, and so on down the line now if those "brazen" Progressives had "put across" that kind of a deal, just imagine the paragon of praise that would now be resounding from the columns of the Evening Telegraph!

But alackaday! They deliberately invited the contempt and scorn of that estimable journal by playing the game squarely in the open. The men who attended the meeting were not there in an official capacity or as a committee. As individuals, interested in the success of the movement and intent on getting only the very best man to run for each office, they urged Mr. Cogan and Mr. Griffith to announce themselves for the Governorship and the Senatorship, respectively. It is the straightforward, clear-cut, open-and-above-board policy that has been followed, and with extremely satisfactory results, by Progressives all over the country—the policy of letting the people know their position months in advance, instead of springing a cut-and-dried program at the last moment. And the only reason the Republican standpatters are peeved is because it blocks their fusion game.

SIGNBOARDS ON COUNTRY ROADS

THE State Highway Commission, which under the new law has jurisdiction over country roads, has sent notices to the various boards of county commissioners to remove within thirty days all advertising signs which deface rocks, trees, buildings and fences along the highways. This is declared to be the beginning of a movement "to permit the tourist to see the scenery."

It is a sensible movement. Colorado's mountain roads, especially in the Pikes Peak region, have been built partly because of their value in the development of the tourist business. They attract to the state large numbers of motorists whose patronage contributes substantially to the general prosperity. The only function of the road is to make the scenery accessible; the scenic views themselves cannot be improved or beautified or added to in any way. But they can be disfigured by signboards, and the lamentable fact is that the disfiguring process has been permitted to go on until some of the finest mountain highways have been converted into mere advertising displays.

The authority of the Highway Commission is limited to the road, and it cannot prevent the erection or maintenance of billboards on adjacent ground. But it can and will accomplish much good by clearing the highways of the innumerable advertising signs which now serve as mile posts.

The extensive improvements now being made to the property of the Manitou Mineral Water Company, and the announcement that a modern bathhouse and pavilion soon will be built, confirm the impression that the recent sale of this property was the best thing that ever happened in Manitou. The exploitation of Manitou water on a large scale offers the best opportunity for a big business success in this region, and the new owners are going about it in a way that will bring the right kind of results.

Sulzer is to make a lecture tour to the Pacific Coast to tell Western audiences of "The Treason of Tammany Hall." His appearance on the platform at this time is on a par with the performance of the heroine of a sensational divorce case who goes on the stage to coin her notoriety into money.

H. Govett Colquitt, of Texas, is so anxious for war with Mexico and so certain that his state can defeat Huerta single-handed and alone, why not let him try it? There's nothing so good for a fire-eater as a taste of the diet he craves.

THE COAL SITUATION.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 Yesterday I had the pleasure of meeting a former senator from Illinois who is one of the largest coal operators in that state. In the course of conversation I asked him if he favored unionism and if he thought the operators in the southern field were right in their policy of refusing to arbitrate with their former employees.

And thus he answered: "In my mines I refuse to employ a nonunion workman because it is much more businesslike and satisfactory to deal with representatives of a body of men rather than several hundred individuals."

Before we had organized labor in the mines, he said, the men worked 12 hours a day, under the coal by hand which is a very hazardous thing to do and received from $1 to $1.25 per day. Now under unionism they work eight hours per day, receive from $4 to $5, and the operators are making more money on the mines than ever before.

"As regards to the operators refusing to confer with the union," he said, "I regard as the most unbusinesslike, narrow minded, and pitiful stand that I have ever heard of a bunch of so-called business men adopting. And if as you say you have mining laws on your statute books demanding check weights and giving the men the right to trade where they please, then you had better recall your state labor commissioner if they are not enforced."

And just to think this represents the stand taken by an extensive coal operator and by a man who is big enough mentally to represent his community in the senate.

—E. T. CRITTENDEN.
 Colorado Springs, Nov. 26.

FROM OTHER PENS

AN UNREPENTANT PRODIGAL SON
 From the Fort Collins Review.
 The Pueblo Chieftain, now the leading standard Republican newspaper in the state is carrying the role of father to the prodigal son. The Chieftain presents to the view of all holding Progressives the fatted calf—in the "hops of perquisites of office"—and urges these prodigals to return to their father's house and reunite the once happy family of the G. O. P.

Unfortunately for the fabric of the story, the Chieftain is not meeting with much success. Tuesday's issue it discusses the refusal of the Lamar News—once Republican, now Progressive—to leave the swine and come back to father. There is no time now for quarreling over the division of the patrimony in the past, argues the Chieftain, for now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party.

Not as menials in the father's house does the Chieftain invite the runaway, but as honored guests, having a slice of the fatted calf next the bone, where sweetmeats and succulence arrive with each for sympathy.

But the News can't see it. Admittedly the News, with other Progressive papers, is enjoying nothing but husks at the present time and is forced to consort with what Republicans consider swine, but the News feels better in that sort of society than it used to when it lived at father's grand old house and got the short end of everything, along with the other minor members of the family.

The parable is not working out according to the program of old. Conditions are reversed. Then the prodigal son sought out his father's house and was pleased to ask for whatever was left from yesterday's dinner, but today the father is out searching for the prodigal and, finding him, cannot induce him to return.

The son prefers his present position to anything his father has to offer. He is tolerably happy, thank you, and, moreover, he hasn't much confidence in the ability of his father to baton upon him all the things which the G. O. P. is willing to promise today.

THANKSGIVING

BY GEORGE FITCH

Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Another Thanksgiving is about to descend pleasantly into our midst, and the patriotic American citizen should pause as usual and consider his blessings for the year which has just passed.

There have been many unusual facilities this year for being thankful. The climate, for instance, has been very productive of deep gratitude. No man who has passed the summer in the superheated middle west has emerged therefrom without being deeply thankful because he does not have to die right away and move much farther south.

The price of beef is another great cause for Thanksgiving. This year beef has gone so high that it has become impossible for many Americans to use it at all. Thus saving them vast sums.

No year has been more favorable for the implanting of deep thankfulness among the poor than the one which is just about to expire. The poor man has gone through 1913 without worrying over his Mexican investments, the slumping prices of his bonds or the dark murky cloud on the horizon labeled "Financial Legislation." The poor man has had only his ordinary troubles this year and, the old line politicians have been kept so busy that they have hardly had time to inflict some of their upon him.

The farmer who has just been harvesting half a crop and preparing to sell it at double prices will remember this year with gratitude. So will the Democrat who, despite his long idleness and lack of practice, has been able to discover charges against Republican office holders, with surprising skill and promptness.

Americans should be thankful because the Balkan states are 6,000 miles away, because the presidential election is three years away. Because the next time Shaw escapes he may get entirely away; because we will hear no more from England for some time about the inferiority of American golfers and tennis; because the board of health shows signs of preparing to stop after the red light school of literature, and because the excitement caused by the tariff legislation has given the newspapers from starting another war with Japan.

Truly, Thanksgiving is a well justified day and should be eaten with unusual gusto.

The price of beef is another great cause for Thanksgiving. This year beef has gone so high that it has become impossible for many Americans to use it at all. Thus saving them vast sums.

No year has been more favorable for the implanting of deep thankfulness among the poor than the one which is just about to expire. The poor man has gone through 1913 without worrying over his Mexican investments, the slumping prices of his bonds or the dark murky cloud on the horizon labeled "Financial Legislation." The poor man has had only his ordinary troubles this year and, the old line politicians have been kept so busy that they have hardly had time to inflict some of their upon him.

The farmer who has just been harvesting half a crop and preparing to sell it at double prices will remember this year with gratitude. So will the Democrat who, despite his long idleness and lack of practice, has been able to discover charges against Republican office holders, with surprising skill and promptness.

Americans should be thankful because the Balkan states are 6,000 miles away, because the presidential election is three years away. Because the next time Shaw escapes he may get entirely away; because we will hear no more from England for some time about the inferiority of American golfers and tennis; because the board of health shows signs of preparing to stop after the red light school of literature, and because the excitement caused by the tariff legislation has given the newspapers from starting another war with Japan.

Truly, Thanksgiving is a well justified day and should be eaten with unusual gusto.

(Copyrighted by George Matthew Adams.)

Another Thanksgiving is about to descend pleasantly into our midst, and the patriotic American citizen should pause as usual and consider his blessings for the year which has just passed.

There have been many unusual facilities this year for being thankful. The climate, for instance, has been very productive of deep gratitude. No man who has passed the summer in the superheated middle west has emerged therefrom without being deeply thankful because he does not have to die right away and move much farther south.

The price of beef is another great cause for Thanksgiving. This year beef has gone so high that it has become impossible for many Americans to use it at all. Thus saving them vast sums.

ODDS AND ENDS

We can at least be thankful today that the price of coal hasn't gone even higher than $4.50.

Unfortunately the youth who writes "Odds and Ends" seems to think that the only way to run a newspaper is to grow black in his face in his denunciations of corporations—Evening Telegraph.

It just happens that the editor of the Telegraph belongs to a party which professes to believe in the dissolution of all trusts and big corporations. While "Odds and Ends" champions a party which doesn't care how large a trust or corporation becomes, so long as it is regulated in behalf of the people.

The railroads are so regulated, by the interstate commerce commission, and without doubt they will be granted an increase in rates, provided they can show they really need it for legitimate purposes, rather than the payment of interest charges on watered stock.

This policy of regulation is bound to be adopted, for it is the only sensible and efficient policy. The only policy that promises the people any protection. The "dissolution" program is mostly noise. It is generally true that the papers and parties that profess to believe in "dissolution," when it comes to the test, are very tender of hurting the feelings of any particular corporation.

Some of them would even permit the Colorado coal operators to charge any price they might desire, without even asking an investigation.

Probably the editor of the Colorado College Tiger will be thankful tonight that the football season is ended, and that the "necessary evil" will not weary him again until next fall.

It is not true that the "executive committee of the Progressive party" has selected Cogan and Griffith as candidates for governor and senator. But wouldn't they make a splendid team?

It looks as if it might take as long to get the local coal investigation committee together as it has taken Governor Ammons to bring his committee of miners and operators into the same room. A little more speed would be appreciated by the people.

Uniforms are more precious in Mexico than human lives. The rebels who captured federalists strip before killing them—they don't want to shoot the clothes full of holes.

Again the interesting question is raised, as to what should benefit the world will receive it, after refusing to recognize Murderer Huerta, President Wilson recognizes Murderer Carranza?

The morality of Colorado Springs children is low, according to the Civic League. And the cause? Amusement resorts run only for profit. At the risk of raising the scorn of our esteemed evening contemporary, may we venture the diffident prediction that if the city were to provide clean, decent amusement for the young people there would be a different story to tell.

The average person prefers decency, but too many amusement owners cater to indecency, because they think it pays better. And children go to these places, because they have nowhere else to go.

Colorado's 1913 crops are worth $3,500,000 more than the crops of 1912. In the way of material blessings Colorado has much to be thankful for today.

If the present conference between operators and miners doesn't settle the coal strike, Congressman George Kindel is in favor of the local of Governor Ammons. "He has the laws to settle it and he ought to do it," says Kindel.

Not having voted for Ammons, we can only remark, "Cogan would have done it." Colorado made a sad mistake when it turned down Cogan for Ammons.

The strike wouldn't last a week longer if the governor, as Cogan suggests, were to step in and operate the mines, in behalf of the people, pending a settlement.

Behind closed doors? That's the way the Democrats will settle the currency bill. And that's the way President Wilson carries out his pledge that all business should be transacted in the blinding glare of publicity.

The Colorado Springs Gazette finds fault because the Chieftain hopes to see the different factions of the Republican party united for the next campaign—Pueblo Chieftain.

Not at all. If there are "different factions" of the Republican party, the Gazette has no objection whatever to their setting together. The Progressive party is an entirely separate entity, and has nothing more to do with the Republican than with the Democratic party.

Reactionary Democrats on the state executive committee have modestly announced that hereafter they will make all nominations for federal office. The resultant howl from progressive Democrats reaches the uttermost corners of the state. The big Democratic smash can't be long delayed.

"Roady" is playing for votes, but the avalanche with which the people will strike him will be bigger and a whole lot hotter than a steam roller. It will be "Roady" in the devil chorus in the future—Del Norte Promoter.

But apparently Roady is oblivious to the wappings of the Democratic gape.

Of seven men arrested in Trinidad last Saturday for looting on a street, only one was a naturalized citizen of the United States—Durango Herald.

The C. F. & I. long ago adopted the policy of refusing employment to Americans and of importing foreigners, as a being more manageable. And they are still on the same strike.

WHAT THE PROGRESSIVES ARE DOING

NO TIME FOR AMALGAMATION

From the Lamar News.

In a recent Pueblo Chieftain editorial article, written in reply to a News editorial, the state's leading Republican organ makes some admissions and some statements which are full of encouragement. The Chieftain asks the News and other Progressive newspapers to forget the past for the combined good of Republicans and Progressives, with the assurance that only in this way can a party successfully oppose the misruling Democrats. The Chieftain is to be heartily commended for the noble manner in which it offers to let bygones be bygones and how to the business in hand, and the News sincerely wishes it could subscribe to its doctrine of forgetfulness.

The motive which has prompted the suggestion of getting together is admirable and if the feeling were generally over the state and dispensed in the standpoint mind there would be possibilities ahead. But the News doubts if any considerable number of Tories share the Chieftain's views of the situation. The disquiet which resulted in the formation of the Progressive party originated a number of years before taking actual form, and not until deplorable practices had grown beyond further endurance did the insurgent leaders conclude to declare their liberty. This being the case it is too much to expect that even following a crushing defeat the "old guard" will voluntarily retire to give way to the better element of their party. And anything less than a brand new deal would not be considered by the Progressives.

The following clipping from an exchange about expresses our views:

"Why should any real Progressive return to the Republican Party?"

"How the leopard changed his spots or has this particular Sangreanbian provided himself with a brand new skin?"

"Isn't Boss Barnes still bossing the Republican machine in New York? Isn't Penrose still supreme in Pennsylvania? Has anyone questioned the leadership of Uncle Jos Cannon in Illinois? And in our own beloved Colorado, have the Stevensons, the DeVines and the Howberts changed their political principles?"

The trouble is that the political Bourbons who are endeavoring to salvage the Republican wreck do not appreciate that the differences between the standard Republicans are fundamental and cannot be adjusted by a revision of the pie.

Regarding Mr. Vincent's declaration of amalgamation at the present time, yet admit that if this end could be accomplished it would free the state from an oppressive and impossible Democratic administration. The Progressives firmly believe that they enjoy the confidence of many thousands of honest citizens, and they do not propose to turn over their organization to the dictates of unscrupulous politicians, and this is in effect of what would happen if a union of forces were attempted at this time. Whenever the Chieftain and other their ranks have been purged of men whose principles are unscrupulous and obnoxious to the people, will the News and other Progressive newspapers advocate a healing of existing breach. It is true that there is a certain common ground on which both parties could meet, and it is barely possible that some difference could be adjusted but in days of the majority has so ruthlessly trampled upon the rights of a protesting minority that the latter having arisen to prominence and independence will not surrender precious privileges until the evidence of sin and an absolutely square deal are secured. It does well to say, perhaps, that newspapers, dispassionately discuss vital political issues and it is to be hoped the better understanding will be the result of the forum which the Chieftain opened.

The News is pleased to accord the Chieftain with sincerity in taking the position it now assumes. It plays a type of game for the record. It is not listening for these words. "The Chieftain is not joining the Progressives to come back and remain the 'old guard' no matter we are using the standard argument to hog everything." "Hog everything is right as we say in slang parlance, and is against the fear that the hog instinct has not yet been eliminated 'nor soon' that gives us permanent pause. The News finds no fault with the Chieftain's position in the premises. It is not too narrow to set aside personal feelings and join in something that means the redemption of Colorado." The News stands unequivocally for a union in which the strength—a coalition in which the faith is a corner post—an alliance composed of progressive citizens, regardless of previous party affiliation. Such an institution is demanded by the voters of Colorado and the Progressives are conscientiously striving to make their organization embody a that is implied in the above enumeration.

A RECORD CROP OF PEANUTS

Arkansas Threshers and Factors Are Ready for a Busy Season.

From the Arkansas Farmer and Home Arkad.
 Arkansas will this year harvest record peanut crop. More than three thousand acres of peanuts will be gathered in the immediate vicinity of Jonesboro, where a large plant has been built for the treatment of the peanut after it comes from the farm. At Arkadelphia, Camden and May nola the growers have joined together and purchased peanut threshing machines.

In Miller county around Texarkana, there is a large peanut acreage this year and the factors at that point are preparing for a busy season. Good crop prospects are also reported from the country around Ashdown, Hot Springs and Menz. Peanuts also are grown around Fort Smith.

The peanut vines are said by the department of agriculture to be worth from $12 to $20 a ton for hay.

THE O. T. DETECTIVE

From the Chicago Record-Herald.
 The old-time detective was born (most of us are) not made. He was blessed by a beneficent Providence with unusual physical powers. His senses were marvellously keen and trained to a superhuman degree of perfection. Take, for instance, his wonderful eyes. Why, a detective of the old school was a bush leaguer if he couldn't spot the murderer's footprints around the scene of a crime even when said murderer was riding a bicycle at the time. The latest type could find traces of tobacco in the ordinary citizen's coat, could see the milk of human kindness in a barroom magnate, and when his job was through, could see his few even if working for a hard-liner. Wonderful eyes he right.

Years ago a friend of mine sought the aid of one of these wonderful men. The detective had his office on the fifth floor of a building in which there were no elevators. When my friend entered the room the detective without looking up said:
 "Ah, my friend, you are breathing hard on have been climbing some stairs."
 Wonderful of course, and yet this wonderful old-school detective was nothing compared to other sorts exhibited during this war.

NEEDLEWORK AND STENCILING

A Charming Design For Tea Apron

DRAWN BY ELEANOR NORRIS

Nothing could be prettier nor more acceptable in the way of a Christmas gift for a young matron or a girl than one of the pretty little tea aprons which are so coquettish and so popular at present.

In the design given on this page Miss Norris has presented a very happy idea which would be exceedingly attractive when finished.

The apron should be made of fine handkerchief linen or Paris muslin. The scallops are to be padded slightly and worked very closely with mercerized cotton. The butterfly wings and the dots should be worked in contrasting colors. Or the whole design may be executed in white as desired. Ribbon rosettes at the waistline and streamers of ribbon complete the apron.

THE FINISHED APRON

MRS. O. F. For the Colonial room, the scarf trimmed with fillet crochet lace, now so popular would be just the thing.

Make the scarf of soft cream colored linen, trimmed with two strips of the fillet crochet. The strips should be inserted about three inches from the front and back of the scarf. The lace may be inserted with a buttonhole-stitch, or a fine whipping on the wrong side. The linen can be hemstitched and the lace sewed to it, if you would prefer that way.

A pattern of little stiff roses and leaves would be colonial in design and just the pattern to use for the fillet crochet.

A little edge, done in either needle point or fine crochet, would prove a most effective finish for the edge, which could also be merely hemstitched.

Shirtwaist Design.

G. E. G.—A shirtwaist of the design you wish has never been given, but one has already been drawn and will soon be published.

Am indeed delighted that the pinch work waist is going to be so lovely when embroidered and that you find the patterns so practical.

***

Directions for Punch Work.

Miss H. M.—Will repeat the punch work directions for you, and if you follow the directions exactly as given, you will have no difficulty in doing the work.

Fasten the thread on the under side of the material, and bring it to the right side through the first dot of the second row. Put the needle in the dot immediately above, which is the first dot of the first row, and bring out at the first dot of the second; now put the needle in the first dot of the first row again and carry the thread across in a diagonal manner to the second dot in the second row. Insert the needle in the dot just above (the second dot of the first row), and bring it out at the second dot of the second row. Put the needle in the hole immediately above, again and carry the thread across to the third dot of the second row.

Two stitches, one perpendicular and one diagonal, are thus used. The perpendicular stitch ties the threads of the fabric and the diagonal stitch brings the needle into position.

Proceed in the above manner down the two rows of dots. The second row of work is done over the third row of dots and the second row already worked.

After the work is entirely completed in one direction, the work is turned and the same kind of stitches are taken at right angles to those already finished.

White cotton voiles are the most adaptable to punch embroidery, and are a very popular material for blouses carried out in this embroidery.

Am very much pleased that you care so much for the design, and hope you will be very successful in executing it.

Tying Quilts.

Mrs. O. W.—When tying comforts, you can use the pattern as a guide for distance and thus dispense with measuring for each knot.

Cut the lengths of yarn for knotting a little longer than the quilt and then with a basting stitch pick through the design at regular intervals. When the lengths are all in, cut and tie the knots.

The knots may be tied after the quilt is removed from the frame, and thus be less tedious work.

***

Blouse Pattern.

M. H.—Shirtwaist designs of all kinds will be given from time to time, and hope among them you will find just the pattern you desire.

Thank you for your appreciation of the patterns, and trust they will continue to be so serviceable to you.

HOME MADE BABY SHOES

It is quite easy for the deft-handed woman to make them and to decorate the leather with tiny flowers and dots.

Unsoiled tops of long white kid shoes may be used for making these shoes. The pattern, something like that of an Indian moccasin, is quite simple to cut, and the stitching may be done by the sewing machine. Sometimes machine stitching is effective in colored leather.

Decorative ribbon-work flowers or floss embroidery will provide decoration, and these should, of course, be provided with little ribbon ties.

A gift for a young mother, for sale at a bazaar, or for the stock of pretty things which the far-seeing woman is adding for Christmas, these little shoes are well worth making.

Thanksgiving Stencil Designs

These seasonable and simple designs for sideboard runner or sofa cushions will add to the scheme of decorations for the Thanksgiving festivities and are very easily made and carried out. The Colors may be chosen to harmonize with the room or they may be selected from the warm yellows, browns and greens which are appropriate to the season.
